Tết is Vietnam's most important annual festival and all the things we do during this time: from cleaning and decorating houses, paying respect to the ancestors to eating lucky foods aim to hope for good luck to come in a New Year. Understanding this, our Head Chef from Red Bean Trendy restaurant invented a Set Menu based on indispensable dishes in Vietnamese trays on Tet Holiday, as the best wishes to our beloved guests for the coming year.

Simulating Spring rolls and Jellied meat. Spring rolls get their name because they are traditionally eaten during the Spring Festival. Fried spring rolls look like gold bars, they are the wishes for prosperity on Tet Holiday. Besides that, a piece of jellied meat like a transparent jelly symbolizes clarity, good luck all year.

Soup

Lobster consommé

Cooked lobster is red, a lucky color in Vietnamese cultural. You will find this color everywhere in Vietnam during the Tet holiday, from house decoration, clothes to the food. Besides that, mixed vegetables clear soup is a symbol the fullness on New Year.

Main Course

Chicken represents happiness, health, and purity - the reason why Vietnamese often eat chicken on Lunar New Year Eve. Cooked shrimp with red color is also a wish of good luck for New year.
